Thanks Omar: what do you think about saving a new version that does not include all the of struck out language? From this newer/cleaner/shorter version, perhaps you could highlight the project description/permit actions sections where I could address Lucita's comments?

Douglas,

Here is the new link.

The document I worked at home and updated this morning is damage. I was able to save it. I will be transferring everything to this one. I highlighted the comments that are specific to the project.

I know that DB documents are uploaded on our webpage https://www.epa.gov/uic/dewey-burdock-permit-application
